Works by Murano Glass Sculptor ROMANO DONA

Dona developed a specialty with glass sculpture, and in 1987 he won the Premio Murano award for glass masters. In 1997 he began working at Stefano Toso Glassworks, where he created his own original pieces. He also continued collaborations with other artists. This infusion of creative energy from artists such as Rodica Tanasescu, Antonio Meneghetti, Raffaele Rossi and David Farsi helped him diversify his skills. In 2000 with Silvano Belardinelli, the art director for a group of Japanese artists, he translated the designs of several Asian artists into glass. Then in 2003 Romano began experimenting with the traditional Muranese techniques of "filigrana" and "incalmo." His application of these centuries-old processes looked entirely new. The results were brightly colored, heavy vessels that undulated with pattern.

Works by "The Contemporary Glass Maestro" AFRO CELOTTO

Afro Celotto was born in Venice on August 24, 1963. He started working with glass when he was only 14 years old, apprenticing with the legendary Lino Tagliapietra. During his 12 years as first assistant to Lino Tagliapietra, Afro had the opportunity to learn from one of the greatest living glass masters. Since these early years Afro has been producing some of the world's most beautiful art glass. Even though he is considered a "youngster" in the world of glass blowing, Afro is quickly becoming recognized by collectors for his technical ability and artistic expression.
